

Dear colleagues,

On behalf of the UiS, the boards of ANSE and NOSCO, we cordially invite you to participate in the ANSE Professional Summer University taking place August 8 – 12, 2011 in Stavanger, Norway.

Inspiring moments in supervision - How to promote change

Stavanger, the oil capital of Norway, is a medium sized city surrounded by fjords and the North sea, with fabulous view to steep mountains. We offer excellent opportunities for you to meet and strengthen old ties and begin new collegial friendships – and to find inspiration: We'll give you a taste of Norway.

We are looking forward to seeing you in Stavanger at what will be a rewarding and inspirational event: The first European supervision summer university in Norway!

Downtown Stavanger, surrounded by fjords

Pulpit Rock

Utstein Monastery

Yours sincerely,

Dr Wolfgang Knopf
President ANSE

Arild Stensland
NOSCO

Rector Aslaug Mikkelsen
University of Stavanger

Perspectives

The program offers a wide variety of possibilities to follow some red threads corresponding with own interest, all of which have the same goal: Create an inspirational and good learning environment for promoting positive change as well as strengthen the skill among the participants to deal with diversity. Red threads to follow or dive into depth may be:

- Philosophical supervision
- Diversity and promoting change
- Develop own capacity and ability as supervisor in the professional meeting with supervisee
- Top down / bottom up approach in supervision
